From Disco to Hip Hop, Pop Culture Trends Inspire Modern Jewelry Looks

If you are old enough to remember the flashing neon ball and the disco dance and music craze of the 1970s, then these jewelry trends will be familiar. If you were born later, then all of the photos from Saturday Night Fever to the happenings at Studio 54 will give you a good indication. But the jewelry inspirations don't stop there. Hip hop's 50th anniversary has influenced designers to create pieces that allude to the 1980s with the eclectic mix that hit the East and West Coasts.

Disco Divas

Disco divas wore yellow gold jewelry that glimmered under the flashing lights. The spinning disco ball influenced a whole new generation of chokers, shoulder duster earrings, sexy chains that can be worn draped in the front or down the back, and pieces that allude to the disco ball itself.
